Abstracts of Presentations

1. Resource Person

Dr Anand Narayanan, Professor, IIST, Thiruvananthapuram

Topic: Our Universe in 3D

He will be discussing the incredible story of one of the greatest map-making exercises that humankind has ever undertaken, to create a three-dimensional map of the Universe itself and our place in it.

2. Students Presentations

a. Devika Lekshmi B R, III DC: Artificial Intelligence First Prize

THE MAGICAL WORLD OF AI: In this world, it's impossible to live without technology.

Nowadays the level and use of technology varies from our home to workplaces; when we wake up, we start with our day with using mobile phone and the day today activities are the part of mobile phones. So that the reason of the vast technological world is Artificial intelligence. I this presentation it talks about the technological world and the reason too. The section says about Artificial Intelligence, causes likewise the effect, the reasons behind we using AI broadly, the future of AI and so. Also it shares the back sides of AI in the workplace also. The presentation will conclude with the super intelligence so the examples with the media will conclude may cover all the related topics of AI.

b. Parthan S, III DC : James Webb Telescope Second prize

The quest to understand the beginning of life started thousands of years ago. Our ancestors tried their best to unfold the mysteries of the universe with their scientific knowledge. Now in the 21st century, we are very much advanced in our understanding of the universe. In this modern era, James Webb's space telescope gives a giant leap in our race to knowledge. In my seminar on the James Webb space telescope, I tried to explain the new technological inventions and engineering craftsmanship used in this. This instrument is a testament to human capabilities and is capable of leading the scientific community in the coming years.

c. Vasihnavi S S, II DC: Blackholes and Gravitational waves

Black holes: an enigmatic cosmic phenomenon, are regions of spacetime where gravity is so intense that not even light can escape. They form through the gravitational collapse of massive stars, giving rise to various types such as stellar-mass and supermassive black holes. Gravitational waves, predicted by Einstein's general relativity, are ripples in spacetime caused by accelerating massive objects. Detection of these waves, achieved through sophisticated interferometers like LIGO and VIRGO, has opened a new window into the cosmos, confirming the existence of black holes and providing unprecedented insights into astrophysical phenomena.

d. Sachin R, II DC: Laser

The laser, a fundamental innovation of modern physics, has revolutionized numerous fields since its inception in the mid-20th century. This paper explores the rich history, foundational principles, and diverse applications of laser technology. Beginning with the theoretical groundwork laid by Einstein in 1917, it traces the experimental realization of the first working laser by Theodore H. Maiman in 1960. The subsequent development of various types of lasers, including gas, solid state, and semiconductor lasers, has enabled breakthroughs in communication, medicine, manufacturing, and scientific research. Laser-based communication systems, such as optical fibers, have transformed global telecommunications, enabling high-speed data transmission over long distances with minimal loss. In medicine, lasers are used for precise surgical procedures, diagnostics, and therapies, ranging from eye surgery to cancer treatment. The versatility of lasers extends to manufacturing, where they are employed for cutting, welding, marking, and 3D printing across industries. As laser technology continues to advance, its applications are poised to expand further, promising new possibilities in fields as diverse as quantum computing, renewable energy, and space exploration. This abstract provides a comprehensive overview of the historical significance, theoretical foundations, and multifaceted applications of laser technology, underscoring its indispensable role in shaping the modern world.

THE ABSTRACTS OF PAPER PRESENTATIONS OF RESOURCE PERSON AND STUDENT PARTICIPANTS OF SPECTRUM SEMINAR

Dr. Bindu P

Professor, Department of Psychology, University of Kerala, Kariavattom campus.

Adolescent Identity: An Attachment Perspective

Abstract:

An Attachment Perspective outline the theoretical framework connecting adolescent identity formation with attachment theory. Attachment theory, initially developed by John Bowlby, posits that early relationships with caregivers form the basis for an individual's emotional and relational development. In the context of adolescent identity, an attachment perspective would examine how these early attachment experiences influence the development of identity during adolescence, a critical period for identity exploration and consolidation. This discuss how secure attachments facilitate the exploration of new roles and beliefs, essential for forming a coherent sense of identity, while insecure attachments might hinder this process. It could also consider various dimensions of identity (e.g., vocational, sexual, relational, ideological) and how attachment styles influence these aspects.

Title: 'Multiple Personality Disorder and Crime'

Abstract:

Multiple personality disorder in criminal cases presents a unique challenge in corroborating the culpability of criminal actions, as the involvement of alter personalities can confound traditional assessments of intent and responsibility.

The challenges in discerning which personality was in control at the time of a criminal act can significantly impart legal proceedings and this has been discussed through a case study. It can be concluded that it is important to consider the influence of multiple personality disorder in criminal behavior and the implications for fair and just outcomes in legal settings.

Earpod culture and its effect on auditory memory

Abstract:

This presentation consists of a study report which is titled as " earpod culture and its effect on visual and auditory memory. Study conducted to prove that in a particular range of EarPods/earphone users: The auditory memory is slightly powerful than the visual memory.

Firstly, we conducted a survey through online to find out the users of earphone according to that data we find out a 14.7% of people are using the earphones in the last six years. So, we selected that particular population from the list and arrange them in the list according how long they use the earphone in a day we classify them into 3, 1-3 low users, 3-5 hours moderate users, 5-8 hours higher users. Then we conclude that the low users from the data is not able to explain the effect of earphone so we excluded them from the list. We consider the moderate and higher users from the list and selected a random sample from the population approximately we tested 10 participants from the data and analyse it. According to the finding we are concluding that a particular (we are not able to completely point out that particular) users are exhibiting a slightly higher auditory memory span than the visual memory span. We tested it by using the immediate memory span test.

Entrepreneurship Club Activities 2023-24

Report on Entrepreneurship Club Activities: 2023-2024

This report details the activities of the Entrepreneurship Club for the academic year 2023-2024. The club's primary focus is to foster and showcase the entrepreneurial skills of students. The first meeting of the club was held on October 16th, 2023, focused on membership drive and activities and brainstorming sessions. The meeting witnessed a surge in student enthusiasm, with many joining the club. Discussions were held on potential activities to showcase student skills. Students presented various ideas for demonstrating their talents.

The second meeting, held on November 1st, 2023, focused on finalising activities. Students voted to host an exhibition cum sale and food festival of the products they produce to showcase their entrepreneurial abilities. On November 6th, the committee successfully obtained permission from the Principal Prof. (Dr.) Raakhee A.S. to conduct an exhibition-cum-sale and a food festival.

On November 7th, student representatives visited each department to explain the Entrepreneurship Club's activities and motivate students to participate in the exhibition-cum-sale and food festival. Brochures and food item menus were created by the students and distributed among faculty and students to generate interest. Students displayed a wide range of creations, including Paintings, Craft items, Origami, items made with coir, Wall hanging photo albums, Pot paintings and Embroidery works. The food festival participants embraced sustainability by using plates and spoons made from palm and plantain, ensuring a zero-waste approach to dinnerware. This initiative aimed not only to reduce waste but also to educate members and attendees about the importance of sustainable practices. The goal was to inspire a sense of environmental stewardship among the young generation, empowering them to make sustainable choices not just on this occasion but also in their daily lives.

The much-anticipated event was held on November 16th, 2023. The exhibition showcased a variety of handcrafted products and a food festival. The principal herself inaugurated the event by purchasing a painting and a coir handicraft, demonstrating her support. The event provided an excellent platform for students to showcase their talents and entrepreneurial skills. Students were highly motivated by the recognition received for their creativity and craftsmanship.

The 2023-2024 academic year saw a successful run of activities organized by the Entrepreneurship Club. The exhibition-cum-sale and food festival provided a valuable platform for students to showcase their talents and gain recognition. The club looks forward to fostering innovation and entrepreneurial spirit among students in the coming years.

Appendix

I always turned to you for help and you've always helped me out. Now I need your help again. When I die, will you follow me and keep me company?" "I'm sorry, I can't help you out this time!" replied the second wife. "At the very most, I can only send you to your grave."

Answer came like a bolt of thunder and merchant was devastated. Then a voice called out, "I'll follow you no matter where you go." The merchant looked up and there was his first wife. She was so skinny, almost like she suffered from malnutrition. Greatly surprised, the merchant said, "I should have taken better care of you while I could have!"

Report 2023-24

Theatre and Film Club

The Theatre and Film Club of the college during the academic year 2023-24 started off with Dr. Julie PS (Dept. of English), as convenor and Ms. Nayana Konath (Dept. of English), Dr. Bhavya Prakash (Dept. of English) and Ms. Lilin V Bhaskaran as co-convenors. It has an intention to create an awareness on theatre, drama and films, their role as educative, informative and as a transformative medium, rather than been labelled only as an artform. The Club has also set the goal to stand as a platform to encourage the histrionic talents of the students. Though club activities were limited to an extent due to time constraints, the Club managed to screen a few classic movies to drive home their impact and the genius of directors. A few discussions on popular movies were also conducted to empower the students to interpret the visual medium by analyzing thematically and cinematically. By joining hands with the Department of English and Media Club of the college, the Theatre and Film Club managed to take the students to watch the movie Barbie (Dir. Greta Gerwig, 2023), which was followed by a discussion of its genre (fantasy fiction), concepts of masculinity and feminism.

The Club was also able to train the students Othello, a play in the regional language by Civic Chandran which has social and political dimensions. The students got a chance to perform the play, as part of “Natakolsavam”, organized by Kerala University Union at SD College, Alappuzha, on 27 February 2024. Moreover, they were able to perform the same at our college. In short, the Film and Theatre Club of the college had a couple of activities to its credit.
